HALLOWEEN ENJOYED BY ECHO YOUNG FOLKS

(Special Correspondence.) ECHO, Ore., Nov. 4.—Halloween was well observed here on last Friday night. At least three parties were given during the evening. The Misses Clara Ripper, Daphne Gullford, and Lily Watterburger entertained about forty of their friends at the Ripper home, which was appropriately decorated for the occasion. Card games were the order of the evening. A two course lunch was served. Several out of town guests were present. Master Jack Stanfield entertained a number of his young friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stanfield, between the hours of 5 o'clock and 8 p. m.

The Little Misses Lois and Ruth

Gobbell also entertained their little friends during the evening at their parents' home in West Lawn. Mrs. J. Frank Spinning and father, Jas. Reithel, are visiting with relatives in Portland. They went down on the local Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Muriel Doble returned home today from an over-Sunday visit with relatives in Irigoin.

STATE TROOPS ARE ASKED IN INDIANAPOLIS STRIKE

GOVERNOR REFUSES REQUEST OF MAYOR, SAYING HE CAN PREVENT RIOTING.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—Governor Reardon's denial that he had ordered state troops to be in readiness to keep order in the streetcar strike here proved true, but it was learned to be a fact that Mayor Shank has made a request for soldiers.

It was the view of the governor, however, that Shank could prevent rioting if he swore in enough special policemen.

Union leaders declare the strikers are behaving excellently. They asserted that the disorders of last week were due solely to irresponsible non-unionists.

Four hundred special sheriffs and deputies are guarding the car bars. Quiet reigned today throughout the city. The streetcar company is making no attempt to run cars, although enough strikebreakers were on hand to maintain tolerably complete service.

New Fall Suits.

According to the Dry Goods Economist, retail suit departments have taken on a busy appearance during the last 10 days as many women deferred buying their fall suits until cold weather made its appearance.

The extensive use of fur trimmings is stimulating the sales of higher priced models. In the first place, soft fur collars are becoming to the average woman. Another good point that should be brought out by the saleswoman is that the small additional cost of the suit, owing to the use of fur, really represents a saving, as it obviates the necessity, in many cases, of buying a separate fur neck-piece.

Many black suits are being taken, particularly in velvet, plush and broadcloth. Colors, however, are well represented. Brighter colors are being shipped, particularly the Carina green, blues and browns. Plushes, velvets, velvetens and corduroys are particularly strong, although the demand continues for duvetine, broadtail cloth, velour de laine, bayadere weaves, peau de souris wool poplins and diagonals.

Leading Velling Patterns.

The Dry Goods Economist says that velling continue to move at a fairly spirited gait. The habit of introducing extreme novelties is slackening, and manufacturers are now concentrating on national styles, such as accord with the present fashion trend in millinery.

Conservative floral patterns in fine, neat meshes continue to the fore. Hexagons, hairlines and fine crapes take rank as enumerated. Plain hexagons are a strong favorite.

Black shetlands are the biggest sellers. Colored novelties are exhibiting unusual pulling power.

Chenilles continue in moderate call by the high-class trade. New chenille-corded and chenille-ball effect are being presented with fair prospects of success.

Colored Moufflons.

Some of the practical pelts were dyed in various fashionable shades for early fall displays, but the price of these novelty sets was not suited to the average department. Now, however, attractive neckpieces and muffs can be procured in dyed moufflons for medium priced retailing.

Yellow, pink, blue, green and greenish tawpe are the shades which have sold most freely.

The neckpieces are both in animal and in stole effects. The muffs are oblong—rather long and narrow—or in regulation pillow designs. The muff lining may match the fur, or may be in a contrasting dark tone, or, again, in soft pastel shades. Not only will the colored moufflons be used in sets, but they are being called for as trimmings for high-priced gowns.

Cause of Insomnia.

The most common cause of insomnia is disorders of the stomach and constipation. Chamberlain's Tablets correct these disorders and enable you to sleep. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

DR. TURLEY TO STUDY SPRINGS AT HOT LAKE

HOT LAKE SPRINGS, Nov. 4.—Dr. M. V. Turley, one of the Pendleton physicians who attended the recent annual meeting of the Eastern Oregon District Medical Society, was so impressed with Hot Lake Springs that he has returned for a short stay. Dr. Turley is much interested in the recently well established theory that the waters of these natural hot mineral springs obtain their heat by contact with a deposit of pitch blende, from which substance radium is obtained. While here the doctor will make a study of the matter and satisfy himself as to the healing and curative properties of water naturally radio-active.

SOCIETY

The Halloween party for the sophomore class of the high school at the Dave Ingram ranch Saturday evening was one of the most enjoyable affairs of the year in school circles. The young people were driven out by auto truck to the Birch creek home of the Ingrams where they were greeted by Miss Ingram, who is a member of the class. The house was decorated in a fashion typical of the occasion. Spooky faced Jack-o'-lanterns peering at the guests from every direction. Big bonfires crackled in the yard and the evening was spent in their warmth and glow. Music and dancing were the principal forms of entertainment and late in the evening refreshments were served.

The following enjoyed the occasion: Misses Beulah Smith, Jaunita Friedley, Dorothy Badwell, Claudine McMonies, Vesta Knighton, Ada Cook, Mable Hampton, Mildred Finney, Beulah Young, Lavette Rugg, Gladys Brownfield, Lillian Boylen, Eleanor Arbogast, Fanchion Elliott, Blanche Ward and Bonney, and the Messrs. Wilbur Badley, Archie Rugg, Raymond Wilkes, Edward Rayburn, Charles Gordon, Enoch Friedley, Donald Robinson, Marcus May, Henry La-tourrelle, Ned Fowler, Leslie Eldridge, Joe Wilcox and Wesley Mimms.

Inaugurating a new custom in Pendleton and one which bids fair to be emulated by other communities, the ladies living upon the south hill have adopted the third Monday in each month as the day upon which they will be at home to callers. The custom is one that prevails in the larger cities and has proved very convenient to all parties, to the ladies of a particular locality, because the element of uncertainty is removed. They do not have to prepare themselves six afternoons in each week to receive callers, inconveniencing themselves and sacrificing other plans. On the other hand, the ladies making calls find it convenient in that they can spend the afternoon in one locality of the city and feel assured that they will find the lady of the house at home. Altogether it is a very popular custom and announcements of calling days for other sections of the city are expected soon.

There is little doing in the Pendleton social world today. The women of the city are not interested in the gayeties of life for the time being but are enjoying their newborn privilege of suffrage. For the first time in the history of the city, the ladies are permitted to vote and that is quite enough enjoyment for one day. Even formal calls are postponed, for the afternoon hours finds the greater part of the ladies en route to and from the polls.

Claude Hampton, a Pendleton boy, is chairman of the music committee for the annual sophomore hop at the University of Oregon.

Mrs. Kyle Long and Mrs. Samuel Osborne have returned from a week's visit with Mrs. Robert Dick of East Birch creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Blomquist of this city, were week-end guests of Miss Bertha Anger in Walla Walla.

BOBBY DAVIS WAS SOME LUCKY KID

An account of how Bobby Davis, former Walla Walla second baseman, got on with the Beavers in the Coast league so easily, is given by a sporting writer of Portland as follows:

"If Dave Hancock of the Colts had not been hurt, or if Bob Brown of Vancouver had not been so nasty and protested the game which Bobbie Davis first appeared in as a pitcher hitter perhaps the young sensation of the Coast league would have buried himself for the last two weeks of the season with the Portland Colts, and Hancock have been turned over to the Beavers to finish out the season.

There is an old saying that the man who wins makes the most of his opportunities, when they occur. That is just what Bobbie did. Not only did he make the most of his chances, but they came to him in such a manner that he may consider himself an extremely fortunate young man.

How many players coming from a Class D league can jump into the Class AA and make good right off the bat? Of course, Davis had a chance with San Francisco last spring, but he failed to measure up to the Coast league standard, was transferred to Spokane and from there was turned over to Walla Walla.

Davis happened on the scene with the stage set for his entrance as a star. Things couldn't have been more propitious for him. With Lindsay and Kores both out of the game Manager McCredie was forced to use the youngster.

Of course, Bobbie made good from the start, but would he have had such a chance to do so with the regulars in shape to work? McCredie had expected Hancock to come over to the Beavers after the Northwest league season was ended, but Dave, wrenched his ankle severely, and would have been of no use to the Beavers.

Coupled with Brown's protest when Davis came through with a two-bagger which finally defeated the Canucks, the Portland management thought it would be best to transfer Davis to the Beavers, where no such rulings existed, and where Davis would have a chance to play. He had shown that he is wonderfully sure on ground balls, hit well over .300 and all of the southern critics who saw him in action spoke of him as the real find of the year.
